

Prior and Current Transfer Credit taken at MiraCosta toward our Biomanufacturing BS degree only (Per Joanne Benschop):

1. For courses that were previously considered non-transferable but have since become transferable, we can count these towards the 120 unit requirement and towards the lower division major requirements, even if a student took the class(s) when they were non-transferable. This is consistent with AP 4100B which states that we can use courses 'determined to be at the baccalaureate level'.
2. For courses that were previously considered non-transferable and are either still non-transferable, or were inactivated without ever becoming a transferable course, we wouldn't count these towards the 120 unit requirement.
